

This story starts out with a pan of Nigel's (aka Flex Man) den so the audience will get a view of his old superhero poster, awards and the key to the city that will be displayed on the wall showing Nigel's accomplishments. Finally the camera lands on Nigel and Fang sitting by the table in the den playing checkers. As the camera dollies in to a closer shot of the two we will see Fang a humanized dog sitting in a large puffy chair and on the other side of the table is Nigel the old man in a superhero costume playing checkers by the sunlight of the window. Each checker move they make shows Fang 's speed and impatience's while Nigel is slow and debates on his every moves. There will be an old "Red" phone located not too far behind them covered in cobwebs. All of a sudden the phone rings. Nigel is oblivious to it since it hasn't rung in so long. Fang right away gets up, and goes to get the phone while simultaneously Nigel stretches his arm out to get the phone from Fang. Fang hands the phone off to Nigel. At first Nigel's arm doesn't spring back into shape, so Fang grabs his hand and drags it back to Nigel. Nigel goes to answer the phone upside down since that's the way Fang is holding it. Then we hear him says: Speak up boy, I can't hear you. Fang flip the Phone". Finally Fang turns the phone the right way. We hear the voice on the other end say, "Nigel, we really need you, the dam has broken just outside of town. Hurry up." As they are getting ready, we can see the water rising outside the window behind them. Nigel slowly gets up out of the chair and goes to get into his wheelchair. Fang being in a rush hurries over to Nigel and practically starts to push the chair before Nigel is even fully sitting down. The only problem is he forgot to check the brake. As Nigel says " Slow down boy I'm not a young kid anymore. We haven't done this in years." he releases the brake and Fang goes flying onto his face while Nigel gets pushed into the open closet. He shakes the closet and a bowling ball whacks him in the head, and then bounces on to Fang's foot. By the time Fang reaches Nigel; the water is coming into the house. Fang grabs two tubes out of the closet. We cut to Fang and Nigel floating in their den. Fang begins to roll his eyes and Nigel Says: This is another fine mess you've gotten us into".